● ABOUT ME

A computer engineer with a passion for web development, I have practical experience building integrated software systems and transforming technical challenges into effective digital solutions. My work as a freelancer with international companies has given me a deep understanding of market requirements and user experience (UX). By pursuing a master's degree in Romania, I aspire to deepen my knowledge of European standards in data security and website performance, and to contribute to an advanced academic environment that supports technological innovation and the development of the knowledge economy.
